Warm Greetings from chilly Leuven!

I am writing this on Armistice Day, the official end of WW1. The treaty was signed at Le Francport, about three hours southwest of where I am sitting in my ETF office in Leuven. Belgium was “war-torn” in WW1 and WW2, and down through the centuries. No larger than the State of Maryland, it has been a region easily stomped on. Now the seat of the European Commission, NATO, and many world organizations. This international crossroads provides the ETF with unique opportunities for international ministry and influence. One of our recent graduates is a Finnish economist with the European Commission.

ETF

Although mask restrictions are back in place, we’ve continued our “in-person” classes, chapel services, student and staff meetings. Teaching occurs both in the classroom and in-office, one-on-one. One of the students in our seminary level program, (let’s call him Tiago, is Brazilian/Portuguese (dual citizenship). Tiago is studying to be a theological teacher. He has a background in political science and he’s interested in looking at the political implications of building bridges of peace in the church and society – so important for gospel witness in greater Europe!

Landmark

We arrived in Belgium in November 1994, but I began teaching at the ETF in the year 2000. When I started, the building in which my office is situated was under re-construction. At that time, we all shared an office together in the basement corridor at ETF. Some of the colleagues are now elsewhere, but one has been faithfully serving as our academic dean at ETF for many years. It is a privilege and honor to join with my colleagues in teaching and guiding students for the sake of the gospel.

Please pray for Tiago as he continues his training, and the health safety for our students and staff with ongoing Covid issues in Belgium.

Many thanks to you for being a part of it all with us, Ron & Sandra
